01 Executive Summary

The Nigerian residential sales market demonstrated resilient demand and structured expansion during the second quarter of 2026, spanning April to June. Across 225 unique neighbourhoods, cumulative active listings reached 6,785, supported by 5,695 total new listings. This influx of supply culminated in a peak active listing volume of 589 in the final week of the quarter, representing a 9.7% growth in active listings from the first to the last week.

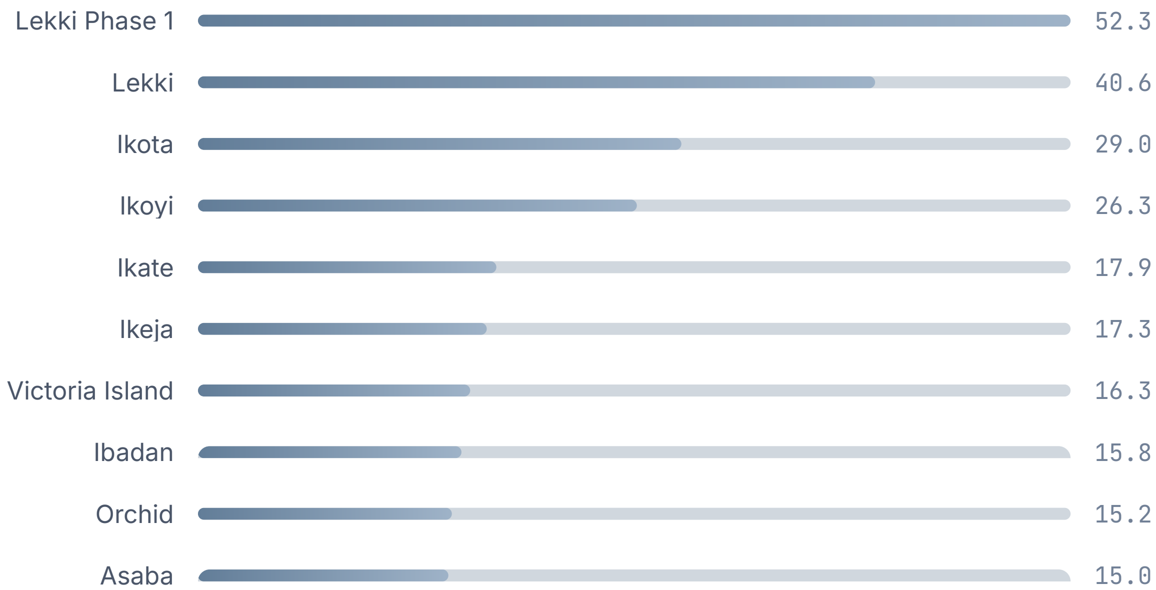
Pricing dynamics remained highly volatile but structurally elevated. The weekly median price fluctuated between a low of ₦177.5M in late May and a peak of ₦260.0M in mid-April, before closing the quarter at ₦243.8M. This volatility reflects a shifting mix of high-value luxury inventory and mid-market offerings entering the market, alongside a total of 177 price reductions that signal tactical developer discounting.

Key Takeaways

- Lagos dominated the sales market with 5,263 active listings and a median price of ₦240.0M.
- Banana Island remains the most expensive market, averaging ₦2956.7M with a rapid 4.9-day DOM.
- Active listings grew by 9.7% over the quarter, peaking at 589 in the final week.
- Developers executed 177 price reductions, primarily in Lagos (118) and Abuja (34), to stimulate demand.

02 Inventory Distribution — Most Active Areas

Inventory distribution remains heavily concentrated in prime Lagos corridors. Lekki Phase 1 led the market with an average of 52.3 active listings per week, followed closely by Lekki at 40.6 and Ikota at 29.0. This concentration highlights developer focus on the Lekki-Epe corridor, which continues to absorb the bulk of residential construction capital. Outside of Lagos, Ibadan emerged as a notable secondary hub, averaging 15.8 active listings per week, while Asaba in Edo State maintained a steady presence with 15.0 active listings per week. The overall growth of 9.7% in active listings over the quarter indicates a steady build-up of supply, though a sharp dip in active listings to 69 during the week of 2026-06-15 suggests a temporary reporting anomaly before recovering to 589 in the final week.



#	NEIGHBOURHOOD	CITY / STATE	AVG. WEEKLY ACTIVE LISTINGS

03 Pricing Tiers — Expensive & Affordable

The luxury residential tier is anchored by Banana Island, which recorded an average weekly median price of ₦2956.7M and an exceptionally low average Days on Market (DOM) of 4.9 days. Other ultra-prime locations in Lagos, such as Victoria Island at ₦1354.4M (DOM: 1.6 days) and Ikoyi at ₦1166.7M (DOM: 6.4 days), continue to command premium pricing, reflecting sustained institutional and high-net-worth individual demand. Conversely, the affordable segment of the market is dominated by peripheral regions. Ijebu Ode in Ogun State registered the lowest average weekly median price at ₦6.7M with 0.0 days on market, followed by Pyakassa in Abuja at ₦7.5M. In Lagos, Epe (₦15.3M) and Ikorodu (₦38.5M) represent the entry-level residential frontier, offering accessible price points for first-time buyers and speculative land-banking investors.

04 Regional Deep Dive

Lagos

Lagos remains the undisputed epicentre of the Nigerian residential sales market, accounting for 125 of the 225 analysed neighbourhoods. The state generated 5,263 active listings and 4,522 new listings over the quarter, with a robust median price of ₦240.0M. Lekki Phase 1 remains the top-performing neighbourhood, driving both volume and transaction velocity, while the state accounted for the vast majority of price corrections with 118 out of 177 total reductions.

NEIGHBOURHOODS	TOP AREA	MEDIAN PRICE
125	Lekki Phase 1	₦240.0M

Abuja (FCT)

Abuja represents the second-largest market, encompassing 63 neighbourhoods with 883 active listings and 657 new listings. The federal capital territory maintained a high median price of ₦238.8M, closely rivaling Lagos. Katampe emerged as the top-performing neighbourhood, while prime areas like Guzape commanded premium pricing at ₦622.7M with a DOM of 7.9 days, indicating strong capital preservation motives among buyers in the capital.

NEIGHBOURHOODS	TOP AREA	MEDIAN PRICE
63	Katampe	₦238.8M

Other Cities (Ibadan, Enugu, Port Harcourt, Edo, Ogun, Imo)

Beyond the two primary metropolitan centres, secondary markets showed varied performance. Ogun State, led by Ijebu Ode, recorded 187 active listings and a highly accessible median price of ₦9.5M. Ibadan in Oyo State demonstrated significant activity with 240 active listings and a median price of ₦92.5M, while Port Harcourt maintained a premium median price of ₦175.0M across 87 active listings, reflecting localised oil and gas wealth.

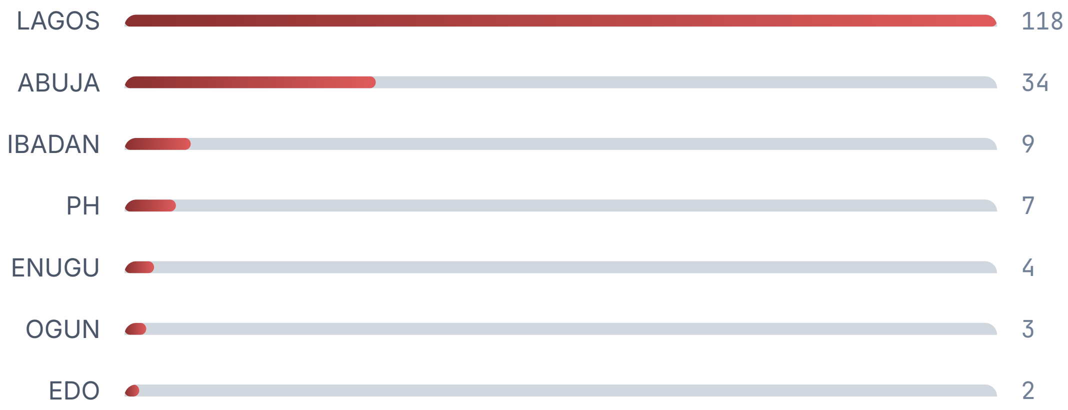
06 Price Reduction Analysis

A total of 177 price reduction events were recorded during the quarter, peaking at 30 reductions during the week of 2026-04-27. Lagos accounted for the lion's share with 118 reductions, followed by Abuja with 34. This trend suggests that while nominal asking prices remain high, developers are increasingly willing to offer tactical discounts to secure liquidity and accelerate sales velocities amidst tightening macroeconomic conditions.

Peak reduction week: 2026-04-27 with 30 events.



07 Market Outlook

The sales market is expected to maintain its upward trajectory in supply, supported by the 9.7% growth in active listings. However, the concentration of inventory in high-end Lagos and Abuja neighbourhoods, coupled with rising price reductions, suggests that developers must price realistically to avoid inventory stagnation. Prime areas with low DOM, such as Victoria Island and Banana Island, will continue to outperform, while secondary markets like Ibadan and Ogun will attract yield-seeking mid-market investors.

01 Executive Summary

The residential rental market in Nigeria experienced substantial expansion during Q2 2026, driven by a structural shift towards leasing as capital values in the sales market remained elevated. Across 176 unique neighbourhoods, cumulative active rental listings reached 6,819, supported by 5,770 new listings. Active listings grew by 24.3% from the first to the last week of the quarter, peaking at 614 listings in late June.

Rental pricing demonstrated strong upward pressure, with the weekly median rent starting at ₦6.4M/yr in early April, dipping to ₦4.0M/yr, and steadily climbing to close the quarter at ₦6.0M/yr. This upward trajectory reflects intense competition for premium rental properties in secure, well-serviced urban nodes, particularly as corporate tenants and expatriates drive demand in prime coastal Lagos.

Key Takeaways

- → Active rental listings grew by 24.3% over the quarter, peaking at 614 in the final week.

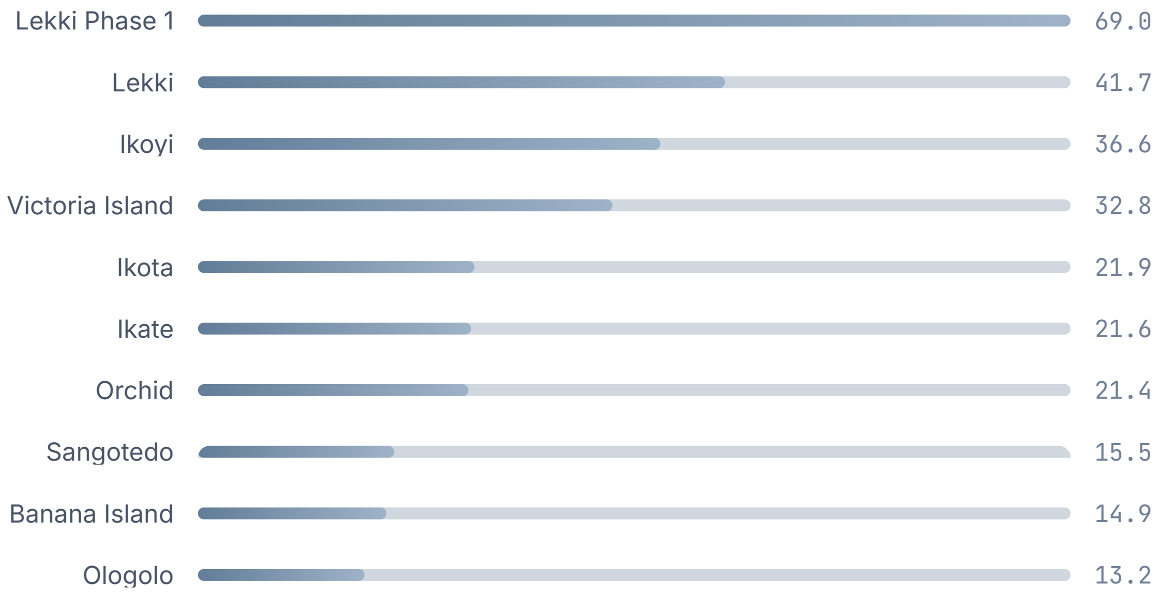
- → Banana Island remains the most expensive rental market, commanding ₦48.1M/yr with a 2.9-day DOM.

- → Lagos dominated rental activity, accounting for 5,983 active listings and 208 price reductions.

- → Abuja commanded a premium median rental price of ₦8.2M/yr across 46 neighbourhoods.

02 Inventory Distribution — Most Active Areas

Rental inventory is heavily concentrated in Lagos, which accounted for 5,983 of the 6,819 cumulative active listings. Lekki Phase 1 was the most active rental market, averaging 69.0 active listings per week, followed by Lekki at 41.7 and Ikoyi at 36.6. This concentration highlights the high liquidity and rapid turnover characteristic of the Lagos island rental markets. Abuja followed as the second-largest rental market with 605 active listings, while Ibadan recorded 186 active listings. The 24.3% growth in active rental listings over the quarter indicates a healthy pipeline of rental stock, though a sharp contraction to 93 active listings in the week of 2026-06-15 suggests a temporary reporting lag before returning to 614.



#	NEIGHBOURHOOD	CITY / STATE	AVG. WEEKLY ACTIVE LISTINGS
1	Lekki Phase 1	LAGOS	69.0

10	Ologolo	LAGOS	13.2

03 Pricing Tiers — Expensive & Affordable

The luxury rental tier is led by Banana Island in Lagos, commanding an average weekly median rent of ₦48.1M/yr with a rapid DOM of 2.9 days. Other high-end enclaves such as Lekki at ₦39.1M/yr (DOM: 6.1 days), Ikoyi at ₦38.7M/yr (DOM: 6.9 days), and Victoria Island at ₦28.8M/yr (DOM: 4.1 days) continue to command premium rates, driven by corporate leases and high-income professionals. In contrast, affordable rental options are concentrated in mainland Lagos and secondary markets. Ikorodu registered the lowest average weekly median rent at ₦789k/yr (DOM: 2.1 days), followed by Mushin at ₦1.0M/yr and Ikotun at ₦1.1M/yr. These areas provide critical budget housing options, though they exhibit significantly lower rental yields compared to the island markets.

04 Regional Deep Dive

Lagos

Lagos remains the primary driver of rental activity, accounting for 118 neighbourhoods and 5,983 active listings. The state's median rental price stood at ₦4.1M/yr, with Lekki Phase 1 emerging as the top rental destination. Lagos also accounted for the vast majority of rental price corrections, recording 208 of the 237 total price reductions, as landlords adjusted expectations to secure reliable tenants.

Abuja (FCT)

Abuja's rental market, comprising 46 neighbourhoods, recorded 605 active listings and 526 new listings. The federal capital commanded a high median rental price of ₦8.2M/yr, significantly higher than the Lagos state-wide median, reflecting the premium placed on secure diplomatic and administrative zones. Gwarinpa emerged as the top-performing rental neighbourhood in the capital.

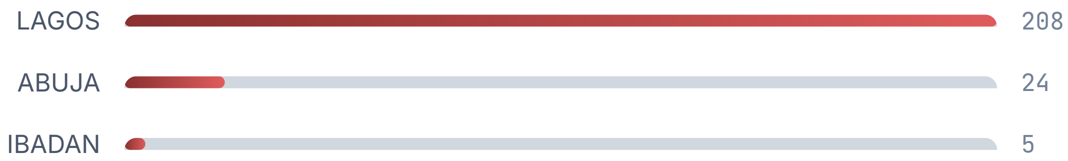
06 Price Reduction Analysis

The rental market saw 237 price reduction events, peaking at 39 reductions during the week of 2026-06-08. Lagos dominated these corrections with 208 events, followed by Abuja with 24. This volume of reductions indicates that while asking rents remain high, landlords are actively adjusting prices to avoid prolonged vacancies, particularly in the mid-to-high-end segments.

Peak reduction week: 2026-06-08 with 39 events.



07 Market Outlook

The rental market is poised for continued growth, supported by a 24.3% increase in active listings. High-end neighbourhoods like Banana Island and Ikoyi will maintain low vacancy rates due to limited prime supply and strong corporate demand. However, the high volume of price reductions suggests that landlords in the mid-market segment must remain flexible on pricing to retain tenants amidst broader economic pressures.

08 Methodology & Data Notes

Data source: PS-0 PropertyScraper autonomously collects listings from PropertyPro.ng, PrivateProperty.com.ng, and NigeriaPropertyCentre.com on a weekly discovery cadence with mid-week health checks.

Neighbourhood normalisation: Raw neighbourhood strings from all portals are normalised to a canonical name via a manually-curated mapping table. Only neighbourhoods with ≥90% normalisation coverage are included in analysis.

Price storage: All prices are stored internally as 64-bit integer kobo values to eliminate floating-point arithmetic errors. NGN figures displayed in this report are exact integer divisions by 100.

Median vs. mean pricing: Median is used throughout to reduce skew from outlier luxury listings. P25, P75, and P90 data are available in the source dataset but excluded from this summary report for brevity.

Price reductions: An event is recorded when a listing's price decreases between two consecutive observations. Multiple reductions on the same listing count as separate events.

Days on market (DOM): Computed as the number of days between a listing's first observed date and the snapshot date. Listings present since before the pipeline's inception show DOM from the first observation date, not the actual listing date.

Outage handling: On weeks where portal access was blocked or failed, active inventory is carried forward from the prior week. New listing counts are recorded as zero for that week. These weeks are noted in the weekly table.
